The Scheig Center may be utilized by the community including individuals, non-profit groups, corporations and the City of Appleton’s own recreation division to educate, celebrate and to provide recreational opportunities. This facility will be available for rental by the public year around.

The Gardens surround the Scheig Center and provide a place where a wide variety of plants are cultivated for educational and ornamental purposes. These Gardens will be limited to a variety of native and non-native plantings. The Gardens are not intended to be expanded and will be limited as display gardens. In addition, the vision for the gardens will exclude vegetable and fruit species. The City of Appleton will team with community representatives including, but not limited to the Master Gardeners, Wild Ones and Fox Valley Technical College to develop a collaborative effort to maintain and provide opportunities for the public and students to share their passion and interests including those pursuing a careers in horticulture and related fields.

The grounds include the existing prairie area. Grounds outside of the existing planted areas and prairie will be utilized for walking and skiing trails and not intended to be an extension of the gardens, but instead provide a link to the remainder of Appleton Memorial Park.
